Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Mr. Chairman:

In response to your memorandum to Heads of Departments and Agencies requesting participation in a Joint Committee on Printing (JCP) Survey of Government Printing Office (GPO) customer needs, I have enclosed a copy of the survey form which has been forwarded to the JCP Survey Team. Based on the success we experienced in dealing with GPO's Rapid Response Center and Customer Services Division in 1985, we intend to submit approximately 70 requests for form work and binding services this fiscal year. This Agency commends the JCP and GPO for their efforts toward enhancing the level of support for customers in the Washington Metropolitan Area and for applying what was successful locally to the GPO field facilities.

Sincerely,

/s/Charles A. Briggs

TO: Heads of all Federal Departments and Agencies

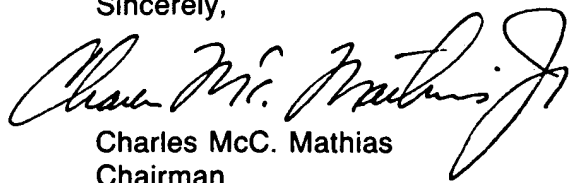

On October 1, 1984, Chairman Annunzio established a pilot program at the Government Printing Office, Rapid Response Center (RRC) to provide a new level of comprehensive service in the National Capital Area. The facility is being upgraded and modernized and the addition of a procurement staff has provided a new dimension to the RRC's ability to respond to customer needs. All changes were based on the results of a customer survey which defined equipment needs and contract specifications. The results for Washington, DC, Northern Virginia, and Maryland customers have been most positive.

The response to the pilot program has convinced the Joint Committee on Printing that this approach could potentially be applied to all of the Government Printing Office Regional Printing Procurement Office and Field Printing Plants. For this reason, the Joint Committee will request the Public Printer to allocate appropriate resources to all of these offices to allow them to provide the same comprehensive level of service offered by the RRC. This new policy and direction will go into effect immediately. However, in order to maximize the potential for success, your agency is requested to participate in a JCP national survey of customer needs (see attached). Many of your offices will also be sent copies of the survey directly from the GPO Regional Offices. The results of this survey will be used to project workload levels, to aid in the modernization and upgrading of the facilities. We request that your local offices respond to the Joint Committee by October 15, 1985. Follow-up visits may be made by a survey team. Survey results will be used to determine the ultimate configuration of each location.

During the transition period from the existing configurations to full implementation of this concept, you will see a wide variety of changes taking place. I am pleased to announce that the first such change about to take place is the establishment of a number of satellite offices outside of the existing Regional office cities. Between now and the completion of all of the changes that are to come, every effort will be made to satisfy agency mission requirements.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

 Charles McC. Mathias
 Chairman
